Research outputs

Theology after Marxism?
DOI: https://doi.org/10.1007/978-3-030-91642-8_3

In the Garden
Scott, P., 7 Jul 2022

Political Theologies in the Anthropocene
DOI: 10.30965/9783657760367_012

Rethinking love in the Anthropocene: The work of love towards nature in the age of technological substitutability

God's work through the emergence of humanity

A Theology of Postnatural Right

Introduction to the Second Edition

Wiley Blackwell Companion to Political Theology

Towards a political theology of nature

Afterword: Whither Anglican Social Theology?

Theology, Plurality and Society
DOI: /10.1179/1462317X14Z.00000000131

Dialogues of Place and Belonging

Does nature pluralize? Towards a greater society
DOI: 10.1179/1462317X14Z.00000000126

Environment
Places as Ungiven, Memories as Competitive? Ambiguities of belonging in theological perspective

Postscript

Technology in a Postnatural Condition? Concepts of nature and Meanings of Technology

Humanity

Systematic Theology & Climate Change: Ecumenical Perspectives

Introduction

The re-homing of the human? A Theological Enquiry into whether human beings are at home on earth

Red Toryism and the Case of the Lost Revolution
DOI: 10.1558/poth.v13i3.308

Theology, Ideology & Liberation
DOI: https://doi.org/10.1017/CBO9780511896088

‘Right out of time? Politics and nature in a postnatural condition’

Karl Marx

Thinking like an Animal: Theological Materialism for a Changing Climate
DOI: 10.1177/0953946810389118

‘The future as God's amnesty? A public theology of resistance for a changing climate’
DOI: 10.1163/156973210X510875

Are we there yet? Coming to the end of the line—a postnatural enquiry
‘Theology after climate change’

A public theology for a changing climate
Scott, P., 2010, host publication.

Which nature? Whose justice? Shifting meanings of nature in recent ecotheology
DOI: https://doi.org/10.1017/S0424208400000747

The End of Nature and the Last Human? Thinking Theologically about "Nature" in a Postnatural Condition
DOI: https://doi.org/10.5422/fso/9780823230693.003.0016

The postnatural as anti-human? Resurrection, natality and the organization of creatureliness

The Human Genome: theological perspectives

Slouching toward Jerusalem: An anti-human theology of rough beasts and other animals

When remoralizing fails?
DOI: http://dx.doi.org/10.5040/9781472549303.ch-014

Nature, Space and the Sacred: Transdisciplinary perspectives

Politics and the new visibility of theology

Seasons of Grace? Christ's cursing of a fig tree

Editorial : Special issue: Public theology and the city: Urban Theology as Public Theology
DOI: https://doi.org/10.1163/156973208X256411

The city's grace? Recycling the urban ecology
DOI: 10.1163/156973208X256475
Postnatural humanity? Bonhoeffer, creaturely freedom and the mystery of reconciliation in creation

Anarchy in the UK? GM crops, political authority and the rioting of God
DOI: https://doi-org.manchester.idm.oclc.org/10.1558/ecot.2006.11.1.32

After consumerism? Materialist theory and idealist practice in the theological critique of consumer society

Future Perfect: Or, what should we hope for?

Future Perfect? God, medicine and human identity

The Blackwell Companion to Political Theology

Creation
DOI: https://doi.org/10.1002/9780470997048.ch24

We have never been gods: transcendence, contingency and the affirmation of hybridity
DOI: 10.1558/ecot.9.2.199.38070

A Political Theology of Nature (Cambridge Studies in Christian Doctrine 9)

Is the goodness of God good enough? The Human Genome Project in Political and Theological Perspective

"Return to the vomit of 'legitimation" Scriptural Interpretation and the Authority of the Poor

Activities

Awards

Projects

Life on the Breadline: Christianity, Poverty and Politics in the 21st century
Scott, P.
1/09/18 → 31/08/21

Lincoln Theological Institute Research Associate
Scott, P.
1/09/16 → 31/08/19
Lincoln Theological Institute Research Associate 2 years
Scott, P.
1/09/20 → 31/08/22

Religion, Theology and Climate Change
Scott, P., Edwards, G., Deane-Drummond, C. & Malcolm, F.
1/10/22 → 30/09/25

Re-moralising Britain? 10 years of New Labour: Faith, Morals & Governance
Scott, P.
17/05/07 → 18/05/07

Impacts